Movers and Shakers; the five year view

This year, we've been looking at key trends since 2012 and (using some serious maths!) here are the winners and losers

Winners:
Mahler Symphony no. 1
Dvorak Cello Concerto
Tchaikovsky Romeo & Juliet

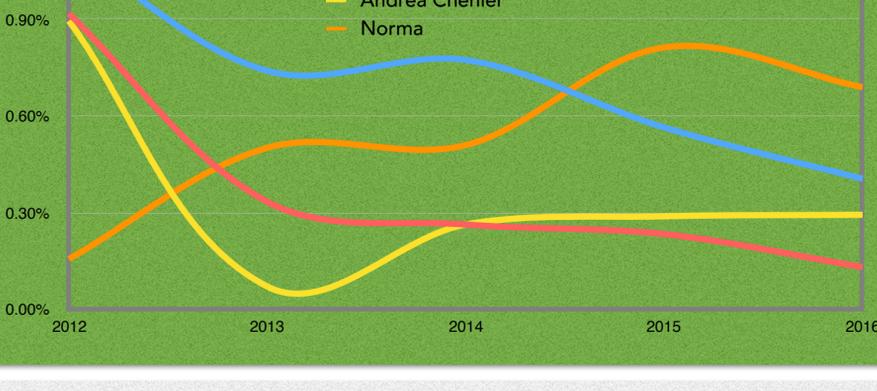

Losers:
Handel The Messiah (and Handel in general)

Opera

Believe it or not half of all opera performances in 2016 were composed by one of the 4 heavyweights: Verdi, Mozart, Puccini or Wagner!

Winners and losers 2012-16

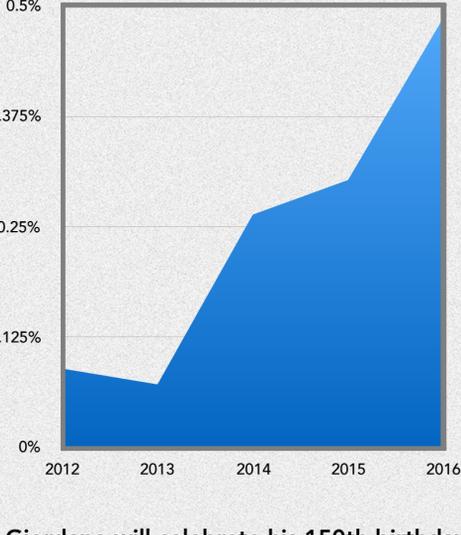

Which opera composer grew most in popularity between 2012-16?

Umberto Giordano:

Best known opera: Andrea Chénier.

Other operas seen in 2016: Fedora and La cena delle beffe.

Umberto Giordano was born in Puglia in 1867 and died in 1948. His first opera was written at 21 for a competition promoted by music publishers for a one act opera. The winner was Mascagni's Cavalleria rusticana.

And in 2017 Umberto Giordano will celebrate his 150th birthday!

Five Minutes of Fame

The Anniversary Effect: Changes from 2012 - 16

Anniversaries give boosts to lesser known composers in 2016

Jean Sibelius fell from 9th to 28th in the rankings (after his 2015 anniversary)

In music, women are still struggling...

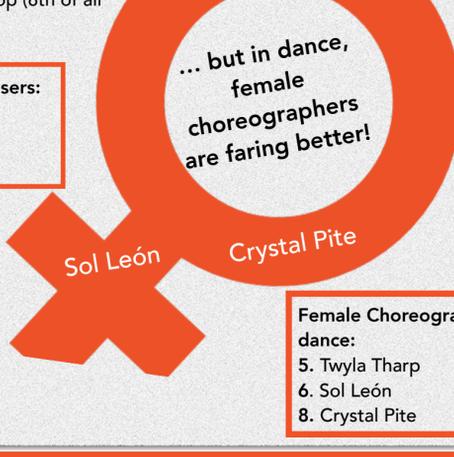

with the exception of Marin Alsop (8th of all concert conductors in 2016)
